

Queensland Future Of Fuel Forum

Posted by Big Gav on November 10, 2008 - 8:04am in The Oil Drum: Australia/New Zealand

Topic: Miscellaneous

There is a forum discussing Peak Oil and Climate Change coming up in Brisbane in a few weeks time - from the PR flyer:

The future for transport in the age of Climate Change and Peak Oil?

Join Brisbane's business leaders for Queensland Conservation's second Sustainability Business Forum in December. Two high profile speakers - Andrew McNamara MP, Minister for Sustainability, Innovation and Climate Change; and Mark Proegler, Director of Environment for BP Australia - will be discussing the future of transport in the age of climate change and peak oil.

An invited and diverse panel of stakeholders including Australian Society for Peak Oil, RACQ and BP Australia amongst others, will discuss and answer audience questions.

Tuesday 2 December, 7.00 am - 9.00 am, Brisbane Convention and Exhibition Centre. Registration information available in the attached document or from Racquel Lyons, racquel@wombatcreative.com.au or 0419 789 574. Discounts apply to table bookings of 10 and to charitable NGOs.

The event is sponsored by SEQ Catchments, Energex and RACQ.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.